BY LEWIS CARROLL

'Twas brillig, and the slithy toves Shelby
Did gyre and gimble in the wabe: Niesh
All mimsy were the borogoves, Erin
And the mome raths outgrabe. Everyone

“Beware the Jabberwock, my son! Forrest
The jaws that bite, the claws that catch! Raven
Beware the Jubjub bird, and shun Genuwine
The frumious Bandersnatch!” Everyone

He took his vorpal sword in hand; Cody
Long time the manxome foe he sought— Miceala
So rested he by the Tumtum tree Daniel
And stood awhile in thought. Everyone

And, as in uffish thought he stood, Emma
The Jabberwock, with eyes of flame, Daki
Came whiffling through the tulgey wood, Julie
And burbled as it came! Everyone

One, two! One, two! And through and through Alexa
The vorpal blade went snicker-snack! Vanessa
He left it dead, and with its head Jason
He went galumphing back. Everyone

“And hast thou slain the Jabberwock? Kennedy
Come to my arms, my beamish boy! Kat
O frabjous day! Callooh! Callay!” Monique
He chortled in his joy. Everyone
